The Late Robert Earle To Be Honored; Served for Years on SJMH Board

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (WVPA) — Decades of outstanding service as editor at their West Virginia newspapers has earned two journalists inclusion in the West Virginia Press Association Hall of Fame, class of 2017.

Robert Stanley Earle, 1918-2008, served as publisher and editor of The Weston Democrat for more than 40 years, after first starting as a reporter in 1946. Born on Nov.13, 1918, in Clarksburg, Earle was also a member of the first graduating class of the P.I. Reed School of Journalism and was elected editor of the Daily Athenaeum. Earle was member of the West Virginia Press Association. See Earle’s full bio below.

Dave Owen, 1928-2002, served as the editor of The Parkersburg Sentinel for nearly 30 years. Owen grew up in Minnesota and graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1951. Prior to joining The Sentinel as editor in 1972, Owen had a decade of experience in various newspaper industry positions. Owen was a member of the Society of Professional Journalists and the American Association of Newspaper Editors. His work was honored by the West Virginia Press Association and the Associated Press. See Owen’s full bio below.

The two will be inducted into the Hall of Fame during a ceremony on Aug. 3 as part of the WVPA’s 2017 Convention, Aug.3-5, at Canaan Valley Resort. The induction ceremony will take place as part of the WVPA President’s Reception, honoring current WVPA president Jim McGoldrick.

Every two years, the WVPA membership elects two inductees — Earle and Owen in 2017 — from a slate of four nominees. The WVPA’s Hall of Fame Committee selected the four from a group of 51 nominees now eligible of the Hall of Fame. In order to be nominated and elected to the Hall of Fame, a person had to have an “outstanding” career with a West Virginia newspaper, weekly or daily, or be a native West Virginian who had an outstanding journalism career outside West Virginia. The nominee must be deceased for at least five years before the committee considers him/her for the Hall of Fame. The publisher of each member newspaper in the state is eligible to vote for the nominees.

Robert Stanley Earle, 1918-2008:

Robert Stanley Earle was born Nov.13, 1918 in Clarksburg, W.Va. He was a 1936 graduate of Washington Irving High School and a 1940 graduate of West Virginia University. During his college years, Earle was a member of the first graduating class of the P.I. Reed School of Journalism and was elected editor of the Daily Athenaeum. He was working for the Grafton Sentinel when Pearl Harbor was bombed. The action prompted him to enlist in the U.S. Army, where he was a cryptographer in the Signal Corps, U.S. Intelligence, obtaining the rank of captain at war’s end.

In 1942, Earle married the late Nancy Thrasher of Clarksburg, who preceded him in death in 1985. Together, the couple had two daughters, Rosalie and Nancy. In 1946, he went to work as a reporter for The Weston Democrat and three years later he and the late George Davisson bought the weekly newspaper together. Earle served as publisher and editor of The Weston Democrat for more than 40 years. Earle maintained strong ties to his community, serving for 30 years on the board of directors of the Stonewall Jackson Hospital. For several years, Earle sat on the board of the Stonewall Jackson Jubilee, a festival that celebrates West Virginia’s rich Appalachian heritage. He was also a member of the WV Press Association.

Earle enjoyed golf, skiing and traveling, especially to his favorite destination: England. He was both a loyal Christian and a faithful fan of the West Virginia Mountaineers. Earle was an active member of the local St. Paul’s Episcopal Church, where he served several terms on the vestry. Earle’s daughter Rosalie inherited Earle’s journalism legacy, she retired from The Charleston Gazette after a career in journalism.

The late Bob Earle and his faithful dog, Emma, by the old Weston Democrat.
