Tanya Wynn, M.D., Joins Mountaineer Healthcare

Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital is pleased to announce the addition of obstetrician/gynecologist Tanya Wynn, M.D., to the Hospital’s staff of compassionate physicians. She will join the office of Mountaineer Healthcare for Women, with Tony Naim, M.D., and certified nurse midwife Vicki Smith at the beginning of March.

She looks forward to the opportunity to provide women’s healthcare and increased access for women in the North Central West Virginia area.

“I truly enjoy caring for women of all ages knowing that I am playing an important part in a woman’s healthcare,” explained Dr. Wynn. “I also love working with adolescents and just have a strong connection to women with their care.”

Dr. Wynn’s undergraduate degree is a bachelor of science in biology from historic Spellman College, in Atlanta. She attended medical school at Southern Illinois University, and Saint Louis University School of Medicine. Her residency was at Saint John’s Hospital and Medical Center, in Detroit, Michigan. It should be noted that Dr. Wynn received a full scholarship for medical school.

She is a native of Detroit, Michigan, and her husband, Earl Wynn is from Chicago, Illinois. Earl has a substantial resume with an MBA and a master in manufacturing engineering. The couple has three children – twins, Justin and Jasmin, sophomores in high school, and 9-year-old Jaidin.

Her parents - Brian and Barbara Jackson, reside in Louisiana and Michigan, respectively. As well as having high school children in sports, she enjoys painting in acrylics. She has also created a line of skin care products including body soaps, creams, and body scrubs. The line is all-natural without any preservatives.

In conclusion, Dr. Wynn explained that she loves having the special connection with a family at such special occasion in a family’s life when having a child.

“I love having a role in this such important time for a mother and baby. It is extraordinary,” she said.
Snuffer Named

He has served the nation on a larger scale as an active member of the U.S. Army Reserve and has been deployed four times in the past 10 years including duty in Iraq. He is also the medical director for the Lewis and Gilmer County Emergency Medical Services and participates as a tactical medic for the Lewis County Sheriff’s Department. His professional interests include drug addiction treatment/rehabilitation and osteopathic manipulation.

The family medicine physician has served as a mentor for the School of Osteopathic Medicine’s Rural Health Initiative program since 2012. Within the program, Snuffer has been the lead physician for trauma scenarios representing accidents that could happen to an employee while working in the oil and gas industry in rural West Virginia.

Lyndsi Cress, D.O., Class of 2014, said Snuffer was an invaluable Rural Health Initiative mentor to her learning experience.

“Not only did he teach me how to properly care for my patients, but he instilled in me that as a rural physician I am required to provide more than just medical care. His compassion, commitment and dedication to his patients and his profession are unparalleled by anyone I have worked with and I hope to one day live up to the standards he has set as a physician,” she said.

Snuffer received the School of Osteopathic Medicine’s Statewide Campus Outstanding Primary Care Preceptor Award in 2014 and was awarded the Outstanding Primary Care Physician for the state of West Virginia in 2015 by the W.Va. Rural Health Association.

Skill assessments for new students will be conducted by appointment on March 29, starting at 8:30 a.m. Students will then meet individually with the instructor, by appointment, on either March 30 or 31. At that time, students will receive their assessment results and a course schedule based on their goals and abilities.

Clusters will begin April 3 and run for ten weeks, ending on June 16. The following clusters will be offered on Mondays through Thursdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m.:

- Math Fundamentals

On Fridays between 8:30 and 12:30, a variety of learning activities are available, including guest speakers, science classes, and technology skill exploration. In addition, the instructor is available by appointment from Monday and Wednesday evenings for testing, case on case tutoring, and advice.

In case of severe weather, IMPACT follows Lewis County Schools’ schedule for closures. If Lewis County Schools are on an early dismissal, IMPACT is closed. In all other instances, IMPACT will hold on the regular school day. (If Lewis County schools cancel school by two hours, all classes will be adjusted by two hours.)

The mission of IMPACT is to help adults become successful in school and the workplace. All services are free, and there is no academic eligibility requirement. Students of all educational levels are welcome. Job search assistance is provided for individuals looking for work. Students who need to complete their high school diploma are offered free instruction and testing. To register or for more information, call (304) 299-0088, or email cjohansen@k12.wv.us.
