Testing Patients in Cerner

All,
I noticed today that there were several new ZZTEST patients in PROD, as well as a lot of orders on an Active encounter in ZZTEST, Inpatient. As previously discussed, the use of test patients in PROD should be done as little as possible, and then only with coordination with Finance and Medical Records. These patients will receive charges just like real patients.
I have Discontinued active orders, Discharged active encounters and Combined the new patients back into the original 4 ZZTEST patients we started with. (the one exception is the ZZTEST, LABBLOODGLUCOSE – I’ll get with Angie on that one) Here is what remains:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>MRN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ZZTEST, OUTPATIENT</td>
<td>80000004; 852456; 102806; 102804; 300038; 10902; 3C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ZZTEST, LABBLOODGLUCOSE</td>
<td>300695</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ZZTEST, INPATIENT</td>
<td>8000016; 300282</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ZZTEST, BABY</td>
<td>300034; 300053</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ZZTEST, ADMISSION</td>
<td>80000008; 8000010; 8000009; 8000013; 8000014; 8000C</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Please remember the following:
1. Only test in PROD if absolutely necessary (ie. only interface is in PROD)
2. If you must test in PROD, let Finance and Medical Records know what you are doing
3. Only use one of the existing four ZZTEST patients. Do not create new ones.
4. As soon as testing is complete, Cancel/Discontinue/Credit the tests that were performed and Discharge the encounter
5. Keep track of what was done so that Finance and Medical Records can ensure those items are reflected in reports and statistics.
6. BuildB has been recently refreshed as a copy of PROD, so most of your testing should be able to be done there.

Thanks,
Brian

Needing Support

The Employee Support Fund has been helping our own employees for several years now with emergency aid. When an employee has an unexpected car repair or plumbing bill, to name some situations, the Employee Support Fund can help.

If every employee would give $1 per pay period, we could accumulate would be $12,000 a year.

That is our our own employees helping our own in times of need. Our account is very low!!!

Individual Tax Saver's Credit

Effective in 2002, certain taxpayers are eligible for a tax credit for their own contributions to a retirement plan or an IRA. The maximum annual contribution eligible for the credit is $2,000, and the maximum credit available is $1,000, depending on the AGI of the taxpayer.

This credit would be available with respect to elective contributions to a section 401(k), 403(b) or eligible deferred compensation of a State or local government (a sec. 457 plan), SIMPLE, SAR-SEP, Traditional IRA, Roth IRA and voluntary after-tax employee contributions to a qualified retirement plan.

The credit rate depends on the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer as follows:

Also, you cannot take the credit if any of the following applies:

- The person who made the qualified contribution or elective deferral is under 18 years old.
- The person is claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return for the year of the contribution.
- The person is a student. You are considered a student if during any five months of the contribution year if you:
  - Were enrolled as a full-time student at a school, or
  - Took a full-time, on-farm-training course given by a school or a state, county or local government agency.
  - A school includes technical, trade, and mechanical schools. It does not include on-the-job training courses, correspondence schools, or night schools.

The amount of any contribution eligible for the credit is reduced by the taxable distributions received by the taxpayer and his/her spouse from any retirement plan during the taxable year for which the credits is claimed, the two years prior to the credit is claimed, and during the period after the end of the taxable year and prior to the date for filing the taxpayer's return for the year.

If the client is entitled to the credit they will use IRS Form 8880 and take the credit on IRS Tax Form 1040.

This tax credit has been made permanent by the Pension Protection Act of 2006.

When calculating the credit, any amount of the credit in excess of the tax due listed on the tax return is non-refundable.
